

Google Earth PRO Education Initiative

It's time to take PRO out of the Lab and into your world!

If you are an educator using Google Earth in your curricula or research who thinks you would benefit by having PRO on your own computer, for free, for one year, then read on...

UC San Diego is fortunate to be a participant in Phase 2 of the Google Earth Education Initiative – and we need your creativity and innovation to make this a success. Educators from all disciplines are encouraged to apply. Remember, if you do not qualify for this program, PRO is available on all workstations in the Geisel GIS Lab (and the Lab is open whenever the Geisel Library building is open).

How to participate

1. Review, complete & submit application.
2. Receive notification on application status within 10 working days. Accepted applicants receive an email with participation details.
3. Provide documentation of your use of Google Earth PRO in the form of KML files, videos, lesson plans, or testimony.
4. Have fun!

Application

Please cut and paste from the text below.

- Name & UC San Diego email address
- UC San Diego department name, web address & brief description of department
- Your role within the UC San Diego department
 - Examples: Professor, Graduate Student Instructor, Researcher, Staff
- Description of audience for your work with Google Earth PRO
 - Examples: Undergraduate, High School Student, Faculty, Staff
- List of PRO features anticipated to be used and how they would be used
 - Examples: MovieMaker, import large datasets, image export
- Description of how, when and in what format documentation of your PRO work will be submitted
- Number of PRO installations requested
- IMPORTANT: If previously held a Google Earth Pro account provide your user name and license key.